

Oysters and Soup, every day, including Sundays, at J. Henry Kretsch's.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mr. Jim Rochester is confined to the house by an attack of lung fever.

Dr. Dye has returned from Columbus and is again looking after his patients.

Mrs. John Wellman and daughter Annie, spent last Sunday in Sugar Grove.

Mrs. Adam Lutz left yesterday for Elgin, Ill., to visit a sister who is quite ill.

We regret to learn that Miss Sadie Pond is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. William Martin fell from a roof last Monday morning fracturing his left leg.

Miss Nettie McCray has taken charge of Miss Hart's school during her illness.

Mr. Jacob Weaver has been suffering with erysipelas in the face, for several days.

Col. Frank Morrill, of Columbus, attorney for the Hocking Valley syndicate was in this city yesterday on professional business.

Squire Dan Davis, of Haynes, visited Logan on last Tuesday, and spent an evening with Col. Remple in seeing Bro. Jonathan.

Collins & Moore present a large advertisement this week, which will pay our readers to examine before purchasing spring goods.

One evil education brings a near sightedness, which once begun grows worse and worse. Dr. Harmon, of Lancaster is prepared to correct this evil.

Mr. James Gallagher of Carbon Hill was in the city this week turning a sore hand, but by a collision of coal cars in the bank where he was working.

The wild West has its blizzards, the East its snow storms, the South its hurricanes. We of Ohio have our sleet, and in this particular, with the true Ohio purpose, we beat all the sections.

Candidates for the coming spring election are already putting in an appearance. Their names will be announced at the proper time.

The Crescent Club will give a Return Leap Year Dance tonight at McArthur's hall. The Portmouth orchestra will furnish the music. A pleasant time is anticipated.

Stiers & Co's brilliant spring opening has commenced, and we desire to call the attention of the public to their large and interesting advertisement in this week's issue.

Squire Mank, of Star, and John Buchanan of way back of Ash Cave, brought the blacksmith to their stables, had their horses rough shod, and then came to Logan. We were all glad to see them.

This is Ground Hog Day, we have great faith in G. H. He handles the weather better than Signal service. If he fails he shuts up and doesn't persist in predicting contraries.

We will not be surprised to soon learn that our able contemporary will advance the idea that because Logan patronizes the stores and groceries, the corporation should buy and conduct the groceries and stores.

Master George Hamblin had a pleasant 16th birthday last Friday. He was not "surprised," but was delighted with the present from his father of a handsome silver watch and chain. George is a good boy, and whilst enjoying his watch, will not, we know need watching.

Everybody invited to Slisher's, Saturday evening, to see the big pig roast, 70 pounds, served at the bar free. The best of Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Columbus beer on tap; also, W. H. Thomas' Sour Mash Whisky. Be sure and be there Saturday evening, and enjoy the feast.

Grandfather Short, one of our oldest citizens, died at his home in Logan on Monday last, in the 82nd year of his age. He was a quiet, orderly citizen, a good man and a good citizen. His aged wife and two sons survive him. His remains were interred in Oak Grove Cemetery yesterday morning, Father Cady conducting the religious exercises.

We hope to see a good turn out at the show at the Opera House on the evening of February 10th. The company is made up of Straitsville folks, and the benefit is for a Straitsville Sons of Veterans organization. The Straitsville people are liberal patrons of the Logan people, and this entertainment will offer us an opportunity of making a proper return.

Judge Friesner is holding court in Lancaster this week.

In the drawing of the juries, Ward township has had a recognition.

Rev. Patton, residing in the Mrs. Dr. Williams property, who has been seriously ill for some weeks, is getting well.

A number of regiments of the Ohio National Guard, are planning to hold their annual encampment this year at Ash Cave.

If you want a Champion Mower, Reaper, or Binder, or a Champion Drill, Threshing Machine, or a Harrow, call on F. F. Rempel.

Everybody, even the night police, saw the eclipse, except the gas governor. They are hiding in the lavatory, gazing eye of the town Council.

Mr. Buerhaus who has been detained at home the past week on account of the serious illness of his wife, went to Columbus yesterday. Mrs. B. is convalescing.

Our project to build a soldiers' monument on the public square is meeting with general approval. All soldiers will contribute a little, and it may be our Commissioners could be induced to aid the enterprise by an allowance.

Frank Myers prophesied that there would be no more ice this winter. On last Friday morning when he came to his shop, the thermometer recording 3 degrees below zero, he was astonished to find about two tons of 7-inch ice built up against his door, bearing this placard, "Here's your ice." Frank blames it on the hundred year almanac.

Isaac Kontner had a valuable horse kicked on Friday last, and probably permanently disabled.

The aged wife of Uncle John Nutter was buried today. There is a large attendance from Logan. Obituary next week.

Ex-commissioner Karshner and wife, of Salt Creek, made a visit to Logan this week, and were heartily welcomed by their many friends.

Yankee Moore as "Our Johnathan," played to a large house last Tuesday evening. Mr. Moore is excellent in his role, and kept the audience in a roar of laughter. His support was good, and the orchestra rendered some fine music during the play.

Everybody who attended the play, "Enlisted for the War," at the City Hall last week, is loud in its praise. The cast was made up of home talent. The play is good and none should have lost the opportunity to see it. Barnesville (O.) Republican.

At the election of officers of the Agriculture society, held on January 28, 1888, the following named gentlemen were elected to the following offices: For President, 1 year, May, and Pond; For Vice President, 1 year, N. W. Hamblin; For Directors, Henry Trimmer, James Little, E. N. Collins, John Hunsell.

The weather on last Saturday was favorable to those who watched the eclipse of the moon, which took place at that time. The sky was clear, and the moon high enough in the heavens, that at the most interesting stage, or when the shadow of the earth was passing from the surface of the moon, it was plainly visible in this part of the country.

At the recent oratorical contest at the Athens university, Mr. Sayre of Perry county, won the first prize. He will represent his university at Columbus on the 16th, in the state contest, and if successful as we hope he may be, will represent Ohio at the international debate to be held at Indianapolis. His subject was "Anarchy," a live question for the student in these times, disturbed peacefulness. Judge Bright and Rev. Moore of Logan were two of the distinguished judges at the interesting debate.

Married, Jan. 25, 1888, Mr. John Hunsell, of Mercer Co., and Miss Eliza Meldrum, of Hocking Co., by W. B. Cherry.

It was a "boyhood homing," as Mr. Hunsell, son of William, formerly of Laurel twp., grew weary of Mercer levels, and so he decided to "home" to the hills to launch the boat. Fair weather, good boating and a long run till you tie up on the golden shore. The bride, daughter of Mr. Henry Meldrum, goes down with the love of her father and mother and esteem of her many friends.

Eisler & McLain have moved their stock into the Gimble corner formerly occupied by the Red Flag store, having secured it as permanent situation. The room is large, nicely finished, and well adapted to an advantageous display of goods. These gentlemen would desire the public to remember where they are located and that all orders in their line will be promptly filled.

Remple's Opera House.

3 NIGHTS.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Anna Chute was born in Mankin county, Ohio, April 15, 1804, and departed this life January 27, 1888, aged 83 years, nine months and twelve days.

Her maiden name was Anna Varner, and was married to William B. Chute about 65 years ago. Was the mother of nine children, six sons and three daughters. Two of them, a son and a daughter have preceded her to the spirit land. Seven remain so far as known to mourn her departure.

Grandmother Chute, as she was familiarly called, early in life sought the consolation of religion, and united with the church as a regular attendant on the means of grace until worn down by the weight of years she was no longer able to get to church.

Many of the last years of her life she lived with her son Mr. Eli Chute where the evening of life was truly peaceful and quiet manifesting a kindness of heart, and a sweetness of temper seldom seen in the dotage of life, like the peaceful decline of the beautiful sun in pleasant spring, was the last, and usually calm quiet passing behind the western horizon, so her earthly life went peacefully out.

She passed on from the scenes of earth to scenes of heaven.

On Sabbath 27, after a brief funeral service at the residence of Mr. Eli Chute, her remains were conveyed to the new cemetery at Logan to await the gathering of all his saints.

"Verily He giveth his beloved sleep."

Elder H. B. BRILEY.

STARR, O.

Mrs. John Backus, of Yankee Ridge is sick of lung fever.

The Oliver farm, near Logan was appraised last Wednesday at an average of $30 per acre.

Miss Estelle Webster and Wm. Bickle, were married on last Thursday, at the residence of the bride's parents, near Union Furnace.

A man working on a sawmill near Zaleski, had the misfortune of getting a foot sawed off, one day last week.

Protracted meeting services will commence at Centre Chapel on next Sunday.

It seems that the editor of the Racoon Valley Graphic is trying to raise some kind of excitement, concerning the abundant mineral resources of the country about New Plymouth.

This is no doubt being done to attract the attention of the railroad, that is being constructed west of here to such a degree that they will bring their road up the Racoon Valley instead of the Hamden.

One would suppose, though, that if the miner's wealth near Plymouth was so great as is claimed, that the inhabitants could get enough coal for fuel without having to send to Jackson, Connoville, and other mining districts for it.

A man living near McArthur, fell on the ice, one day last week and broke his leg. He was put on a horse to be taken home from the horse hotel and broke the same leg again. It was not a very favorable place for breaking legs either.

Miss Ella Sweeney of Logan, and Nora Cronin of Sandy Fork, were the guests of Miss Minnie Carke, of Union Furnace, on last Sunday.

Thomas Brown, who is engaged in sawing timber for the Lancaster mill Hamden railroad, came home Saturday and reported that they had been frozen up for two weeks.

Mrs. Willard Webster, of Union Furnace, fell on the ice Monday and broke her arm.

W. P. Miller, the good looking P. M. at Cadiz, has certain misgivings about "possum" hunting.

C. R. Walker and Wm. Crawford are trading in sheep pelts this winter.

Saturday morning it was the coldest in these parts that it has been this winter.

one occasion another convict by the name of Stevenson was brought on to the Penitentiary and taken to an office on North High street in the city of Columbus, and a man by the name Rainey, an ex-guard, was brought in there and he was asked to testify that on the night of the 15th of October he saw a carriage in the street south of the Ohio Penitentiary, and that he saw Dr. Montgomery and Mr. Mariet and perhaps another go across the yard and get into that carriage and drive away, and for that testimony this convict Stevenson, the Deputy Warden of the Penitentiary, standing at the door of the room on guard, offered him five hundred dollars if he would swear to that against the defendants.

I have adverted to the fact of the Granville testimony. I am informed and believe that we will be able to prove that for the procurement of the Granville testimony, which we here propose to be perjured testimony at the outset, it will be shown that certain gentlemen, one of whom is sitting at the board here to manage this case for the State, took to the city of Chicago.

And paid it over to Granville and the one thousand dollars was divided between Granville and the two witnesses to whom I have referred one Lyell and one Clarke. I think the names are; that afterwards another thousand dollars was paid over by the treasury of this secret organization who has set this thing on foot, bound to have a victim. I don't make any difference who it is. I don't care if it is somebody; let us have a victim; anybody.

ONE PERJURY AT A TIME.

And the multiplying of false testimony does not add either to its strength or to its integrity. We are here to try this indictment and we expect to try it. It would have been glad if the State had been kind enough, as is usual in such cases, especially where there has been no preliminary examination, to have given us all the facts on which the State relies for a conviction. We desire, gentlemen of the jury, and expect from the beginning to the end of the case, to ask nothing but what is fair and honest and to submit to nothing that is not honest. But as the gentleman asked you to consider the question of the purity of the ballot box, we ask you to consider the same thing, but in addition to that we ask you to consider of what value liberty may be if it can be sworn away in a court of justice by anybody who choose to hire testimony to do it. I suppose that our knowledge of mankind is sufficient to know that whenever you pile up a big pile of money and give it out that you will have certain facts sworn to and there is the pile to go to, you will find no want of witnesses who will swear. Wherever the carcass is there you will find the carcass dogs ready to take it. We have got no money and had none in the case. The other side has covered this town with detectives, seven or eight, I am told, one of whom within the last few years in a court of justice in this very city, was shown to have offered a witness $1,000, and to divide the reward with the witness in the witness would swear the offense against the defendant in an affidavit. There is no end of these detectives, who are ready to get up a charge against any body and they can prove it against anybody by just this sort of testimony. No man's character, no man's liberty is safe in the presence of perjured testimony, and no man can provide against it.

Why, I have been told, and I think the evidence will show here, that a certain detective agency not only gets so much a day for these detectives who are here playing their trade back and forth in the town and around the Court House, got not only their per diem and expenses while here, but they are to have another large sum of money upon the securing of conviction. My God, has it come to that, gentlemen? Has it come to that, that detective agencies can

GAMBLE THEIR MONEY

Upon the liberty of a citizen who is placed on trial? I am told that this agency has come from Chicago and sent here from Chicago one of their best attorneys to assist in securing the money which they are to have at the end of it. This is serious business, gentlemen, and I appeal to you, counsel, did you open the case, that every word that may be given here be weighed with care and caution, remembering not only the glory of the Republic on account of its government of the people for the people and by the people, but on account of the glory of the Republic that our courts of justice are purer and better than the courts in any other nation under the sun. Justice, honor, integrity, those are the qualities that elevate the nation, and there is no nation, as much as has been said in the impurities abroad in the United States, there is no nation on the face of the earth that is so conspicuous for its purity and its integrity and honest administration of law, as the American Republic.

At the conclusion of Mr. Converse's speech, the court asked the State to begin their testimony.

Grandpa Fox, one of the oldest men in our town, fell on the ice last week and broke his leg. He is over ninety years of age and his recovery is not possible. His fatal hurt and inevitable early departure is a matter of much sorrow to the many who knew the old man, and who here in New Lexington, kindly and in good heart, called him "Kris Kingle." He was a favorite among the children and our leading men, and his disappearance from the windowless palace of rest will occasion much regret in this community.

Gore items.

The daughters of Rebecca of this place turned the people of Gore and surrounding country with a first class oyster supper and a good time, at the I. O. O. F. building on Thursday, Jan. 26. Miss Louise Brown and Miss Quincey Head had solicited to the amount of $13.00. They were each presented with a ladies' elegant ring.

The sleet on the ground has caused a good many downs and ups. We do not mean to say that any body has been walking on their heads. But we have seen parties with their heels in the air. No doubt some very bad words have been uttered on account of some careless persons losing their uprightness.

Mr. Wm. Kennedy has been quite ill for some time past.
